Additionally please find all of the criminal police records together with all of the communications in our possession regarding the assault at issue in this captioned matter.

Mr. Eisner has had no subsequent employment. In the first six to twelve months following the assault, when plaintiff he had a brief periods of remission, after treatment. During such time he would attempt to look for trucking positions advertised on the internet. However, his physical and emotional injuries would then intensify making it impossible for him to follow through. Since that time plaintiff has not felt well enough to attempt any further job searches. There is no documentation of plaintiff's efforts to obtain employment.

To plaintiff's knowledge the only photos taken of plaintiff following the incident may have been one or two polaroids of bruises to his back taken by the Bristol Township police department. My office as of this date has been unable to verify the existence of such photos.

Additionally, please also be advised that between 1986 and 2002, plaintiff together with his wife owned a trucking operation under the name of RJ Express and incorporated as RJ Express, Inc. which subcontracted out trucking work to independent truckers. Plaintiff during the period of 1986 to 2002 also reserved the corporate name of Avalon Trucking, Inc. but never used it as an active business entity.

Very truly yours,

Marshall E. Kresman
